MoMo is our cherished haven.
It's a place of warmth and positive energy,
meticulously crafted to radiate our profound love
for Nepalese culture.

How did it all start? With Laila.
A 24-year-old Nepalese young woman who came to Romania all the way from the foothills of the Himalayas to take care of our dearest human,
Dominic.

However, Laila quickly became so much more than Dominic's nanny. She's our friend. She's our family.

We fell in love with her positive energy, her unwavering optimism, her tender care for both the little one and us — these qualities captured our hearts and forged an unbreakable bond.

Then, slowly but surely, we grew fond of all her stories from home, from Nepal, and also with the traditional dishes she started spoiling us with. We fell in love with the flavors, the spices, and the new textures that we didn't know so well until that moment. In the wake of her boundless generosity, we couldn't help but yearn for a brighter future for Laila.

We couldn't bear the thought of her being merely an employee, missing her home every day. We wanted to form an even bigger family, to bring her loved ones to Romania, knowing that this would bring her even more joy.

It was this profound connection, this shared love and longing, that birthed the very idea of MoMo in our hearts.

We fell in love with the momos prepared by Laila very often at our home so we realized that a place with good, authentic, Nepalese food would bring joy to the both sides: Laila would reunite with her family, and we could share with all of you the joy that Nepalese culture brings us with everything it entails: from food, to cultural habits, to people.

We've strived to bring some of Nepal's energy and many of its flavors to MoMo, and we hope this place will delight your taste buds and also your souls every time you open our door.
